

Operation Day's Work JOBS NEEDED

MacFarland Middle School in Washington, D.C. is leading a new student initiative called Operation Day's Work-USA. ODW-USA is modeled after the Norwegian youth program where students select and study a developing country, perform community service to earn money, and then donate their earnings to help their peers in the selected country. This year students have chosen to help young people in Haiti.

Students can be hired for many tasks, including:

gardening, raking leaves,
trash pickup, digging,
painting, dusting, mopping,
sweeping, planting, filing, copying, sorting, answering phones
